Objectives:

The objective of BBH Luxembourg Funds – BBH Income Fund is to provide investors with maximum total return, with an emphasis on current income, consistent with preservation of capital and prudent investment management. The Fund will be actively managed and will not measure its performance success nor alter its construction in relation to any particular benchmark or index. The Fund will have the flexibility to invest in the sectors, industries, securities and durations the investment manager of the Fund identifies as offering attractive risk-adjusted return potential consistent with the Fund's investment objective.

The Sub-fund's investments will be primarily focused on notes and bonds issued by U.S. and non-U.S. corporations, financial institutions, the U.S. Government, and government agencies and government guaranteed issuers; asset-backed securities, consisting of consumer and commercial asset-backed securities; commercial mortgage-backed securities and residential mortgage-backed securities. The Sub-fund may purchase municipal obligations, sovereign debt, and fixed securities issued by corporations and governments in non-U.S. countries, including in emerging markets, when the Investment Manager believes that the additional returns available from these securities are attractive. To meet its investment objective, the Sub-fund may invest in money market instruments, repurchase agreements, commercial paper and, for hedging purposes, derivative instruments, consisting of futures, swaps and options. To the extent permitted by the Prospectus, the Sub-fund may invest in units of UCITS and other UCIs, such as Exchange Traded Funds ("ETF"). The Sub-fund's investment in other UCIs may include units of money market funds, including funds affiliated with the Investment Manager.

The Sub-fund will primarily invest in a well-diversified portfolio of fixed and floating or variable rate debt instruments. The Income Sub-fund intends to invest only in debt instruments which are performing, durable, and available at an attractive valuation. With respect to fixed income instruments, the term "performing" indicates that the instrument is making payment of interest and principal on schedule, while the term "durable" signifies the Investment Manager's assessment that the obligor responsible for making payment on the instrument is likely to continue making such timely payment in a variety of future economic circumstances. The Investment Manager considers instruments to be "attractively valued" where the Investment Manager believes that the instrument's potential total return exceeds that which would be normally justified by the instrument's underlying risks.

Income is reinvested into the fund except for non-accumulating share classes.

You may redeem your investment upon demand. This fund deals daily.

The Income Sub-fund has no limitations on the range of maturities of the debt securities in which it can invest and may hold securities with short-, medium- or long-term maturities. The Income Sub-fund will seek to maintain an overall portfolio duration (sensitivity to changes in yields) that is consistent with the broad investment grade market through the use of securities held and U.S. Treasury futures.

What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Risk indicator

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for 5 Years. The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less. You may not be able to sell your product easily or you may have to sell at a price that significantly impacts on how much you get back.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you.

We have classified this product as class 3 out of 7, which is a medium-low risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium-low level, and poor market conditions are unlikely to impact the capacity of the fund to pay you.

Be aware of currency risk. You will receive payments in a different currency, so the final return you will get depend on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above.

The Sub-fund is subject to credit risk, which is an issuer's inability to meet principal and interest payments on its obligations. The Sub-fund seeks to minimize such risk by primarily investing in securities of high quality issuers. The value of a security may decline for a number of reasons which directly relate to the issuer, such as management performance, financial leverage and reduced demand for the issuer's goods or services. The Sub-fund invests in high yield securities. High yield securities can be volatile and have a high risk of default. You must be prepared to accept the risks that your investment may suffer significant losses, and that the Sub-fund's returns may fluctuate. The Sub-fund will try to minimize these risks by diversifying its holdings by issuer, industry and credit quality. The Sub-fund will enter into various financial contracts (derivatives) with another party. There is a risk that the other party will become insolvent or fail to make its payments which may result in the Sub-fund and your investment suffering a loss. Liquidity risk exists when a particular instrument is difficult to purchase or sell. If a transaction is particularly large or if the relevant market is illiquid (as is the case with many restricted securities), it may not be possible to initiate a transaction or liquidate a position at an advantageous time or price. Investors should also read Risk Descriptions in the Prospectus for a full description of each of the Sub-fund's risks.

This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.
